Japanese Travelers.
Chiyosaburo Watanabe L. L. B. of the Imperial Bank of Japan and Gaz. Nagasaki of the Yokohama Specie Bank Ltd, arrived in Carson yesterday. They both speak excellent English, and are traveling in the United States, with a view of visiting the principal cities.

All old Nevadans will want a copy of Charley Goodwin's latest book, "The Wedge of Gold," on sale at Cagwin and Noteware's.

Extra copies of papers containing these sketches from nature, to send to friends, may be had at this office.

Kelly vs. the Examiner.
The trial of the case of Martin Kelly against the Examiner was begun in Judge Slack's court Wednesday. The plaintiff demands $75,000 for damages to his reputation, caused by the publication of an article in which he was charged with having been engaged in stealing fire engines from the Fire Department. The defendant admits having published the article, but denies that the article was defamatory.

Military Commissions.
The Governor has issued the following commissions:
Co E, Elko, Captain B J Reilly, 1st Lieutenant, W W Wilkerson, 2nd Junior Lieutenant, Logan Irvin.
Co C, Washoe Co—Captain E C Phelps, 1st Lieutenant, G Coppe, 2nd Junior Lieutenant, G Holman.
Co B, Storey Co—1st Lieutenant, J H Burke, 2nd Junior Lieutenant, J H Sullivan.

Women Whitecaps.
Osceola, Neb., November 16.—The women whitecap case that caused a sensation a few weeks ago, when a dozen prominent women were accused of flogging Osceola girls for alleged laxity of morals, was settled yesterday by the accused women pleading guilty to the charges and being fined $5 each.

The Best Team.
New York, November 16.—The convention of delegates representing the baseball clubs of the National League and the American Association is being held this afternoon at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. The Board of Directors are also in session. They will award the championship pennant to the Boston club.

ALL SORTS.

Hot tomatoes at Adams' opposite Postoffice tonight.

Commissioner Haines returned from Chicago in poor health yesterday.

Fresh fish, crabs, shrimps and oysters can be had today at Tennant's.

Controller Horton is back from Austin, and his son Robert is in San Francisco.

The new time card on the Central Pacific will not go into effect till Sunday, November 19th.

A farm hand, Curt Davidson, ravished and murdered Birdie Baugh yesterday in Alliance, Oh., and then cut his own throat. He was found nearly dead but will recover.

Lovers of good entertainment will be glad to hear that John P. Meder is arranging a fine entertainment for next month, the proceeds of which will go towards the purchase of a piano for Professor Howe's room.

A fire house is being constructed in the north-western part of town, near the old ball ground. It is within 120 feet of a hydrant, and is so situated that two men would have no trouble in drawing the hose cart to three different hydrants.

There was a beautiful and striking sunset last evening. A large sombre, leaden cloud hung over the hills in the West, but its irregular outlines were tinged blood red as the sun disappeared, and then gradually assumed a dull black as darkness came on. It attracted considerable attention.

While delivering for Cagwin & Noteware, Ed Peterson was thrown from his horse, and the horse falling on him laid him up, so that Roy Phelps is carrying papers for him. Messrs. Cagwin & Noteware desire that all oversights be reported at the store. Ed is not seriously injured and will be on deck soon.

The following pictures show the discrepancy in size between an amateur actor's hands on and off the stage:

RENO REDUCTION WORKS.

The Smelter in Full Blast and Turning out Bullion.

Yesterday the new water jacket smelter at the Reno Reduction Works was fired up, and a stream of molten rock nearly two inches in diameter flowed from one of its openings, while a smaller stream of metal escaped through another. Everything worked like a charm. W. J. Stevens, an experienced smelter, was in charge and furnished ample proof that he understood his business.

All the machinery at the works is run by water power. The smelter is from 35 to 40 tons capacity and is of the most approved make. There is on hand about 5,000 tons of material containing gold, silver, lead and other metals to be smelted; also immense piles of coal and limestone, the latter being for flux. A few days will determine whether the smelter will prove a success and whether base ores cannot be as successfully worked on the Truckee, where there is an abundance of water power, as well as in localities where steam power has to be used.

The success of these works is of great importance to Reno as well as to the enterprising citizens who have erected them at the expense of many thousand dollars. They give employment to a large number of men directly and indirectly. It is the intention to enlarge them, if it pays so that in the course of a year or two, especially if Congress deals fairly with silver, a hundred or more men will be steadily employed. Mine owners will also be encouraged to get out ores, as they can dispose of them for cash at the works.

Cattle Shipments.

Yesterday's Journal has the following:

Twenty-one carloads of cattle were shipped west yesterday by Murphy and Hill of Haileck.

J. M. Dorsey shipped a carload of hogs to the San Francisco Land & Improvement Company yesterday.

A large herd of cattle is on the road from Fort Bidwell to be fed on Truckee Meadows. E. P. Sessions is bringing them to Reno.

Nineteen carloads of cattle belonging to Russel and Bradley have arrived from Battle Mountain and will be fed on the firm's Reno ranch.

Six hundred head of beef cattle belonging to George W. Mapes arrived in Reno yesterday from the north. They will be fed on Truckee Meadows for the California market.

Lost in a Storm.

Norfolk, Va., November 16.—The pleasure boat W. C. Winning left here on Friday in the storm raging at the time for Newport. She was in charge of Samuel Brown and Edward Smith, colored, and had aboard four white passengers. Nothing was heard of the vessel until yesterday afternoon, when she drifted ashore, bottom up, near Caren island. It is believed that all the occupants perished.

Rival Attractions.

The Chronicle and Examiner are competing for favor by giving art folios with their subscriptions.

Call and see the two rival collections at Cagwin & Noteware's.

Fall and Winter Clothing.

John Henderson, representing Wannamaker and Brown of Philadelphia, Pa., will be at the Arlington House Nov. 14, 15, and 16, with a full line of samples of gents and boy's clothing and furnishing goods.

The public are respectfully requested to call and examine goods and prices and be convinced that they can save fifty (50) per cent of the prices usually paid.

Last Night's Entertainment.

The Opera House was packed last night to witness the efforts of local talent in a three-act farce.

The APPEAL's society and dramatic reporter dishes it up in the following manner: "Miss Jennie Torreyson as the Duchess was fine. There was a fire and dash about her work that I liked, and her facial expressions spoke louder than words."

Frank Bryant as her son was natural enough, but Frank's old-time frown is better suited for a villain than a lover.

As Jack Ryder, Frank Oliver was very painstaking, though Frank's Wanonga walk was painfully apparent. Frank is not a stick by a long ways, however.

Miss Edith Howe as Petrolia was fully up to the expectations of her most ardent admirers, and that means a good deal.

The gem of the play was Miss Grace Davis, as Tolu; she was simply great. He was as natural as life, and entered into the spirit of the part like an old hand.

Hal Howe as Dick, the camera fiend, was all the part called for and Pete Doyle as the Butler sustained his reputation as a good, all-around actor.

The piano solo by Miss Bright was well rendered and excited considerable applause. With care this young lady is certain to become an excellent pianist. Mrs. Hawthorn's sweet voice was at its best last night; she sang quite prettily, "That Song Divine," and was loudly applauded. This was followed by a duet by Mrs. Cagwin and Mrs. Bender, nicely rendered, and encored to the echo. They sang "Madelaine."

Mr. J. P. Parkinson's solo "A Father's Love," from the Opera of Surline, was beautifully sung showing Prof. Haymanson's training. He was the recipient of much applause.

Miss Oliver sang a very pretty song by Rubinstein entitled "Longing," and was encored heartily. The next on the program was Will Matther's solo, "The Ballroom Love Song." This young gentleman's singing always delights the audience and last night was no exception to the rule. For an encore he gave the "King's Champion." And now we come to the gem of the evening, a solo by Miss Lottie Meder. This young lady has been studying under Prof. Haymanson for some time and has made wonderful progress. She sang last night "Speak" by Ardit, and rendered it brilliantly. Her execution is quite remarkable, her intonation perfect and she electrified her hearers by finishing on high C. The audience seemed to be charmed and could not get enough. In response to an encore she gave a pretty ballad by Nevins. A brilliant future lies before this young lady and she will surely make a name for herself.

Prof. Haymanson was accompanist and it is generally admitted that Carson has never had his equal.

The stage settings and costumes were very tasty.

Fall and Winter Stock.

In order to supply the demand for dry goods, M. Cohn has concluded to replenish his stock, which will be sold at a still greater reduction in prices.
